

留学生セバスチャンの話

母国スペイン、カタルニア、生まれたコロンビアについて話してくれました！

“I’m Sebastian, from Catalonia, Spain. Catalonia is in the northeastern part of Spain. It made news for the problem concerning its independence in 2017. There are delicious dishes such as “Crema catalana,” “Botifarra amb alubies, and “Pa amb tomaquet.” I think that if you come to Catalonia, you should eat these dishes!

Also, there are a festival called “Els castellers” and a day called “Sant Jondi” Compared to Japanese events, more people take part in the events.“

“There are various distinctive festivals in the countries which Sebastian comes from. In Spain there is a festival called Les falls de Balencia. In this festival many large dolls the artists made during the year are decorated and displayed. They are made of flammable materials, and all the decorations are burnt at the end of the festival.

In Catalonia there is a festival called Els castellers. In this festival people dance and do the things like coordinated group gymnastics in Japan. They make a tall tower of humans.

In Columbia there is a festival called El carnaval de Barranquilla. This festival is characteristic and interesting.”

At the end of his presentation, he gave us a very important message. “Being different from each other is very important. We are all different and that is good and important!”
