

Hayata Shared His Experience in Mexico

中沖君がメキシコでの留学体験を語ってくれました。

After listening to Hayata's presentation, I felt a great desire to study abroad. He said people in Mexico are friendly and positive and sometimes sing together. There are many fun events in Mexico. They celebrate "fiesta" disguising themselves on the "Day of the Dead" and get together on "Independence Day." He also said Mexican people are very easy going when it comes to time. I'm not good at being on time, so I would be more carefree over there. (1st grade H.S boy)

Hayata stayed in Acapulco, Mexico for eight months. Since the city faces the Pacific Ocean, there are resort areas where you can swim throughout the year. People over there are so kind and cheerful, Hayata said. He also said his difficulties came from the differences of cultures and lifestyles between Japan and Mexico, yet he learned their language and made a lot of friends there. I would also like to study abroad and broaden my horizons someday.

I listened to the presentation about Mexico and I learned a lot of things. First, I had always thought Mexico was a cold country, which I learned is not true. Actually, there are coastal resort areas in Mexico. Second, they enjoy festivals called "fiesta". They also listen to music almost everyday. I really envy them. Third, the staple food of Mexico is "tortilla" and they use it in most dishes. After listening to his presentation, I realized that studying abroad could be hard, but we could experience a lot of things and broaden our horizons. (3rd grade H.S girl)
